

Small Children

The railings on the stairs to the second floor and the balcony railings do not have any fall protection under the rail at standard height. The railing has only a wire horizontal railing and some of the rails are string at this time. This is why we do not recommend small children or anyone who would be unstable in these units.